Description

The PH110 Portable pH Meter features a unique refillable flat surface electrode that provides fast and easy on the spot pH measurements of liquids, semi-solids, and solids. The design is rugged and designed for harsh environments, so you no longer have to worry about electrode breakage or clogged junctions. The portable pH Meter offers a RENEW indicator that tells you when it is time to replace the portable pH meter's electrode. The portable pH meter also features a CALIBRATION indicator that indicates when the pH meter needs to be recalibrated.

The PH110 Portable pH Meter is IP67 rated for wet environments. The pH meter can save up to 15 sequentially tagged readings in its memory, which allows detection of changes over time. The portable pH meter also, has an analog bar graph originating at the neutral point (pH 7.00) to conveniently view trends in acidity or alkalinity. The portable pH meter is temperature compensated and will display the current temperature.
